From the Rectory:

Dear Readers,

How quickly the year seems to turn. It is that dreaded time for many of back to school or university; past are the summer holidays, now it is back to the proverbial grindstone. We think especially of those facing new challenges whether they be new schools, jobs or life situations and pray that God will give them the resources required to make the changes. With the start of the academic year, so too begin our harvest celebrations as we give thanks to God for all that he has given to us through this past year and are reminded to share our bounty with those who are in need.

*God bless,
Martin*
